General Statutes of North Carolina, as published by the General Assembly	No amendment history on record	21 September 2026, 03:33 UTC	ce1194dcf6578422a4b65c84 - 18581e05425f9fca7dda6b93 - 5d6fd4b234574336

In any sale of the vacant and unappropriated lands or swamplands by the State, the following powers may be expressly reserved to the State, to be exercised according to law:

The State may make any reasonable and expedient regulations respecting the repair of the canals which have been cut by the State, or the enlargement of such canals.

The State may impose taxes on the lands benefited by those canals for their repair, and they shall not be closed.

The navigation of the canals shall be free to all persons, subject to a right in the State to impose tolls.

All landowners on the canals may drain into them, subject only to such general regulations as now are or hereafter may be made by law in such cases.

The roads along the banks of the canals shall be public roads. (1872-3, c. 118; Code, s. 2534; Rev., s. 4050; C.S., s. 7622; G.S., s. 146-95; 1959, c. 683, s. 1.)

Provenance

This document reproduces the text of one section of the General Statutes of North Carolina from a source file whose SHA-256 digest is printed on every page. The digest fixes the bytes this export was made from; if the State's file changes, the digest will not match.

The text of the section is unaltered. Subsection designators have been moved from the run of text into the margin. The amendment history and the table of authorities are derived from the section by mechanical extraction — they add no characterization of the law.

This is not the official text. The official text is published by the General Assembly of North Carolina.
